

How to record your screen to make a tutorial video from your Mac.

This small tutorial will show you how to make a video taken from your mac computer screen. With this skill you can share self explained videos about how to do things over Internet or with some application step by step.

1. To achieve a video record from our Mac, you need an application called Quick Time. This app comes already installed in you Mac by default. You can find this application inside of your finder: Applications > QuickTime.app

Or you can find it in the dock.

2. Once you open Quick Time, go to the File menu and select New Screen Recording

3. Once you have pressed the button New Screen Recording a new window will pop up. This is the main recorder controller. With this you can press the small red button to start recording your screen. Take into account that all the contents inside of your screen will be taken, even the mouse movements.

The main recorder controller provides few options; such as record sound from the microphone or highlighting the mouse clicks.

4. In order to stop the recording you have to go to the menu bar and click on the next icon.

5. Once you have pressed the stop button, you can save your video clicking on the menu bar File>Save...

For advance support and video editing with Quick Time you can visit <https://support.apple.com/en-us/HT201066> .